A voice-It is not a command, only a request. Rev. Mr. Burton could not take the matter into posideration at all without looking at it in the aspect it presented in connexion with the present asture of affairs. In that light he must confess wanted more light on it.

Rev. Mr. August saw nothing in any possible riew of the case to impede the passage of the resointion. Wherever the country should drift, the money paid would not be lost. It was not a propomion to ask anybody for money but to sell valuable works at their worth and apply those proceeds towards an estimable object. If this object was never accomplished those who bought the books would yet have the worth of their money. Rev. Dr. Doggett advocated the resolutions in an sloquent and stirring speech. He felt a litheregret at the incidental political allusions which and been made in the course of the discussion .--He concurred fully in the remarks which had fallen from the Bishop on this subsect. He did not indulge in the gloomy appreheusions on the subject. The Conference was bound in obligation and christian honor to presecute this enterprize. Whatever might happen he trusted they would need a church in Washington (Amon.) This enterprize was gotten up by a estimable gentleman, to give to every person the full value of the smount paid, and yet, out of the profits raise a fund to give Southern Methodism a creditable church edifice at the seat of government. The book, proposed to be sold was one of the most valuable compilations of sermons ever issued, and the engraving -a work displaying the highest artistic talent, and more true to nature, than any spare no pains to forward the enterprize. Rev. Dr. Smith said, that Mr. Burton's remarks is their last analysis meant that if threatened calamity came, the Southern Methodists would need no church in Washington city. That was not so. brift as we may there was no more probability that the Baltimore Conference would go with the Northern Methodist Church, than that he would take wings and fly. A church in Washington city would always be needed. Even if it should not be so, the Conference would not be relieved from its obligation to support this enterprize .-He regretted that any one should think that, in any event Methodism was to be lost in Washington city. There was not room for such a thought. Rev. Mr. Coulling thought that there was no opposition on the part of any one to the first two resolutions, the only objection was to the two

Rev: Mr. Wheelright said he intended at all hazards to express his determination on the subject. It had been said that these resolutions were merely recommendatory. Yet one brother-had spoken of the "obligation" resting on the Conference, and another of the "christian honor," which was involved in its maintenance. Those who vote for the resolutions might involve themselves in such obligations as they chose, but for himself, he denied the right of the Conference to bind bim to make any other collections than those stated in the Discipline.

Rev. Dr. Doggett thought that the law of the majorities governed the case. When the Conference came together to consult for the general good, there was a tacit agreement of the members to abide the judgment of the majority.

Rev. Mr. Burton differed from Dr. Doggett, and did not think that the majority had a right to bind the minority. Suppose the majority pass a rule to sreach Deism, were the preachers bound by it. Bishop Paine said that this was a Conference of scinisters under law, and had no right to bind any of its members to do any thing not authorized by the Discipline.

Bey, Dr. Smith had understood the undertaking to have had the unanimous sanction of the Conference. It was under that impression he spoke of the obligation to support it.

Bishop Paine said that as this church was to be built in the Virginia Conference, it was expected is the South that this Conference would do a great deal towards that object. This enterprise was one of great interest. Numbers of members of the uthern Church visited Washington, some of them were in Congress. He wished there was more christian men there, (Amen.) The ground eccupied by the Church South, was the conservative ground-suitable alike to Kansas and Nebraska, to Virginia and to Maryland-(a voice, and Maine,) yes, to Maine, and if anything will suit all New England, to all New England. It was not proposed to ask any one for a contribution, a quid pro quo was given in every instance.

and more than a quid for each quo. Rev. Mr. Edwards expressed a desire to discuss the question, but said that as the sossion had already been lengthened, he would prefer to do so

On his motion, the subject was laid on the table A number of notices, &c., were given, and at 1.30 o'clock, the Conference was closed with the Benediction.

Letter from Loudoun County, Va.

Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette. LEESBURG, Nov. 19 .- We are at last gratified to receive the news that our good old State has ranged herself with Tennossee and Kentucky, on the side of the Union, but our gratification is qualified by the fact that it is almost a fruitless victory.

I say almost fruitless, for it is a matter of thankfulness that the Border States, those whose interests are alone affected by this unceasing and unmeaning agitation of a dangerous question, are conscious of the importance of their position, and ready to maintain it. Our interests are not with the North, or with the South, they are with and in the Union, and nothing but the Union such as our fathers framed it, will do for us.

We feel saddened that this sectional feeling has had such full sweep at the North, but we can, at the same time, not help seeing that though Lincoln is elected, we have yet (to use what may not be an entirely classical phrase,) "the bull by the horns." Our Government is not a despotism, where the will of one man is the law, but one of co-ordinate branches, each checking the other. And while the Republicans have the President, the opposition (and no one branch of them either) have the two houses of Con-

The Republican party, being like the Know Nothing party, an organization based on one idea, must have in its ranks men of conservative views, and most abominable radicals, and while it has for the time prevailed, it can not be permanently strong.

There can be no cordial union between its discordant elements, and a wise and firm and guarded opposition to the recommendations of Lincoln will result in its overthrow. This government must be administered on conservative principles, or the wheels of the machine are at a dead lock.

We can, if we will not quarrel among ourselves, provide that the electors shall be elected by single districts, and this will prevent sectionalism on both sides of Mason and Dixon's line.

This mode of electing them was formerly in use in Virginia, and Major Powell cast one vote, that of the Londoun District, for John Adams against Thomas Jefferson, and to provide against this, and to smother the roice of the minority, the mode of electing them was changed to that by general ticket. And now "their violence has fallen upon their own pate."

You will perceive at once that this ancient mode of doing the thing will hardly meet the approbation of the "Gerrymandering" Democracy, but that is no reason why it should not be tried.

I have just learned to-day that there will be a meeting on Friday night, at Mountsville, to take counsel as to the proper position of Virginia now, and from what I have heard of its getters up, it will be a "Prince-s Anne" affair, but I believe Gov. Wise will hardly be there. We Londonners of all parties intend to speak our sentiments at a proper time, and we will do it in such a way smilar work ever issued in this country. He ho- as will show the irresponsible minute men,

> Our deliberations will be calm," and we will, we must try the plan of punishing the Northern unfriendly States, by retaliating legislation if they can not be cured in any other way.

We must build up our manufactures, and | Bucke. cannot this be done by exempting from taxation all machinery, and in the manufacture of wearing apparel for, (say) five years? We must build our locomotives and all our machinery of every kind at home, and encourage by all legitimate means, domestic manufactures. We have immense beds of iron ore and coal, and cannot our legislators by wise discriminations in favor of our own people develop upon them? I firmly believe that a State Rolling Mill would do more in ten years for Virginia than a State Armory would in a hundred, and I commend the idea to our Legislature, so soon to

The arts of peace are used by more people than the arts of war, and to increase the means of earning subsistence and producing wealth, will render us honored, respecied, and feared more than the manufacture of a few guns by the State authorities.

Business is very dull, and some of our tradesmen and merchants talk of trying to do less business, but a safer one, in which the ring of the metal will be a well understood signal of the desire to buy something. Cash will have a powerful effect in moving them to activity in their soveral callings.

I hear of some crops of corn, a good dea injured in the shock by wet weather, and I am afraid we will have a searcity.

Public Meeting in Fairfax.

Pursuant to an announcement made in the News of the 16th instant, a public meeting of the citizens of Fairfax county was held in the Court House on Monday, the 19th inst. The meeting was called to order by Thomas Moore, esq, who after explaining the object thereof, moved that Thos. R. Love, esq., take the chair. John T. Burke and Hiram Brower were appointed Scere-

The chair having announced that the meeting was now ready for business, Maj. H. W. Thomas offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That a Committee of nine be appointed by the chair to consider and report resolutions expressive of the action of this meeting, in reference to the condition of our public affairs. Wm. H. Dulany, esq., said that the only notice of this meeting appeared but two or three days ago in the county paper, and was not generally known to the citizens of the county, all of whom were alike interested in any action proposed to be taken in regard to the result of the late presidential election, and in order that a general notice might be given he moved the following amendment to Mr. Thomas' resolution: Resolved, That the committee to be appointed this meeting, report to an adjourned meeting, to e held at December Court.

Alfred Moss, esq., said he differed with Mr. Dulany in regard to a postponement until December Court. He thought it best that the proposed committee should report to a meeting to be called for the 1st Saturday in December.

Maj. Thomas said it was a matter of indifferonce to him whether action was taken now through the medium of a committee, or the meeting be post poned to the time indicated by Mr. Moss. Mr. Dulany said he was opposed to hasty ac tion, and would consider action at this time as be ing promature. As he before said, sufficient notice of this meeting had not been given, and he thought the humblest citizen of the county ought to have a voice in the meeting as well as those residing here or present on business connected with, the Court. To get a full and fair expression of the sentiments of the citizens of the county was his only object in counselling a postponement.

Richard Johnson, esq., said that a larger attendance could not be had even if the meeting was idjourned until the 1st Saturday in December. Mr. Moss then withdrew his motion for an ac ournment of this meeting until the 1st Saturday in next month. He thought that if the meeting was to be postponed for thirty days it might as well be postponed indefinitely. Mr. R. R. Fowle moved to amend Mr. Thomas esolution by increasing the number of the committee to 12-two from each District. Not agreed Mr Moore moved to reduce the number of the ommittee to 6. Not agreed to. Mr. Moss then offered the following resolution: Resolved. That the meeting proceed to imme liste action without the intervention of a commit

Maj. Thomas made an earnest appeal to the meeting to reject the resolution. The questions now pressing upon us were of momentous importance, and ought to be calmly and carefully considered, but if this meeting now proceed without the intervention of a committee nothing could be accomplished because of the contrariety of opinion which would prevail among the gentlemen comprising the meeting. The character of the chairman was a sufficient guarantee that full and aude justice would be done to all the citizens of the county in the appointment of the proposed committee, and he had no doubt but that the action of the committee would meet the approbation of overv true and loyal citizen of Fairfax. The resolution of Mr. Moss was then rejected by small unjority.

R. H. Cockerille, esq., said he for one was prepared for immediate action by this meeting, but as the majority seemed to consider the matter too momentous to be noted upon now, he would renew the motion made by Mr. Moss, that the committee of nine be requested to report at a meeting to be aid at this place on the let Seturday in December. Motion adopted.

The chair appointed the following gentlemen as the committee under Major Thomas' resolution: H. W. Thomas, Dr. H. C. Mason, S. T. Stuart, P. H. Cockerille, John Powell, James P. Machen, Thos. J. Murray, Wm. H. Dulany, and John T.

On motion of Mr. Moss, it was Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting e published in the "Fairfax County News," and the Alexandria papers.

On motion the meeting adjourned. THOMAS B. LOVE, Chairman. Jonn T BURKE, | Secretaries. HIRAM BROWER, [COMMUNICATED.

It was stated in the Gazette of Tuesday that the ministers of the respective Churches of Shepherdstown had set apart Thursday the 29th inst., as a day of Thanksgiving and

In view of the fact that the Governor of the State of Virginia has not seen fit to appoint such a day in this State-and that the nunicipal authorities of Alexandria have not taken any step to that end as has been done by the city authorities of Portsmouth. Va., and other places, would it not be well in deference to the wishes of many in this community, for the ministers of Alexandria to set apart Thursday the 29th inst., as a day f Thanksgiving and Prayer in their respective churches. The manifold and great mercies which have been conferred by Almighty God upon our beloved country and the difficulties, distractions and dangers which surround us now, would make such a season of prayer, peculiarly appropriate.

A STUPENDOUS CONFIDENCE GAME. The heaviest confidence game we remember ever to have heard of, is said to have been successfully practised in St. Louis on Saturday last, upon a rich planter from near Nashvilla Tennessee, named T. L. Newcomb. This gentleman, according to the St. Louis papers, is worth $100,000, and came to that city to invest $20,000 in real estate. He made the acquaintance of a man named Johnson, with whom he had several interviews last week. On Saturday, Johnson, it is alleged, having represented himself as a man of wealth, informed Newcomb that he had just closed a contract whereby he had agreed to furnish the city with iron pavement sufficient to pave six hundred blocks, but unfortunately he had not ready money sufficient to engage in the enterprise, and he would be obliged to mortgage his real estate to raise the necessary amount-a thing he didn't care to do. However, if Newcomb would loan him $20,-000 he would give him a share of the profits Mr. Newcomb, not for a moment doubting his honesty or his story, agreed to this and loaned him the sum of $8,000 in cash on the spot, and gave the remainder -$12,000 -in bank certificates; which he helped Johnson to collect at different banks in St. Louis. Johnson, therefore, got his $20,000, immediately disappeared, and has not been seen

Monetary. The past week has been one of tinancial gloom and apprehension throughout the length and breadth of our land, and closes without any very cheering prospects for the future. The suspension of specie payment by our State Banks has been followed in quick succession by Baltimore, Washington, and Philadelphia, and, it is to be hoped, may give relief to the Money market where suspension has taken place. At any fate, the mercantile world breathes more freely, and could confidence be restored, business might once more resume its wonted course. As it now is, Exchanges are entirely disarranged, and the machinery of business generally at a dead lock. The New York Banks are still paying out specie, and intend doing so as long as the amount on hand will last. his, of course, makes the rate of Exchange on that point searce and high; but as we can hear of no sales, we cannot give quotations. The rates for money on the street have not advanced, and the demand has not materially increased since our last. In local Stocks there is nothing doing, and prices nominal. So passes the present week .-What next!—a question easily, and, in the last few days, often asked, but not easily answered. The Richmond Whig of yesterday says:-"The events of the past few days, in connection with the depressing influences from the North, have caused a material decline in bonds and stocks. Virginia sixes have declined by actual sales from SS to S0, and Richmond City bonds from 90 to 86. The only other sale of which we have been apprised, was shares R. F. & P. R. R. stock at 50ast week's prices. Exchange and Farmers' Bank stock are both held, now, at 100; Bank of Commonwealth at 96, and Bank of Virginia at 70 .-We learn that the inquiry for stocks has improved, though we have no evidence in the reported sales, or any increased disposition to invest."

The Winchester Republican says :- "Telegrablie despatches received in town yesterday mornng, announced the suspension of the Baltimore Banks, in consequence of which intelligence the Banks of Winchester have been compelled, in selfprotection, to adopt a similar course. The steamer St. Nicholas has been but comparatively a short time on the Alexandria and Baltimore line, but the superior accommodations of the boat, added the polite and gentlemanly attention of the Captain and Clerk, both of whom understand and recognize so well the ameni ties of life, have rendered her exceedingly opular as a passenger as well as a freight oat. The banks of Balti more and Philadelphia had suspended spe cie payment, which would alter the aspect of inancial affairs and probably have a favora ble effect upon exchanges. In view of this change the committee deemed it useless to prepare any business for the action of the meeting, and would merely submit the fol lowing report: Your committee to whom was assigned the dut-
